

Professional Roofing

New Ideas

Program measures roofs remotely

GeoEstimator has introduced its GeoEstimator program, which uses aerial images, satellite images and software to measure numerous surfaces, including ridges, valleys, perimeters and step flashing.

GeoEstimator's program is said to save time and money by allowing users to measure roofs remotely. Users can choose basic or complete reports, which provide two-dimensional aerial roof images. The program's digital images reportedly straighten dimensions and reduce the perception of skew.

Web site: www.geoestimator.com

Telephone: (888) 644-2393